Examine and Roadmap the Collaboration Environment

softchoice

Understanding the current environment to prepare for new collaboration technology integration can be tricky when balancing business demands and priorities.

Softchoice designed the Collaboration Readiness Analyzer to examine a client's existing network and physical infrastructure to ensure readiness for supporting the new technology. Led by a Softchoice Cisco-certified consultant we work with our clients to understand current state and performance, identify any issues and provide a report detailing the ideal state of the client's network as well as the completion of an accurate Bill of Materials and Implementation Statement of Work. Softchoice provides concrete actionable recommendations to optimize performance, maximize resources through efficiencies and delivers a roadmap for the journey towards collaboration.
